Senior Application Developer

Looking for a Senior Application Developer to join our team! Senior Application Developer will create Graphical User Interfaces (GUI) that will allow access to data for internal and external customers.

Application Developer essential duties and responsibilities include:

- Develops cost effective I.T. solutions by creating new and modifying existing software applications
- Analyzes and validates complex system requirements, existing business processes, and information systems
- Responsible for complex designs, prototypes, & other methodologies for new and/or existing systems
- Designs, codes, tests, debugs, documents & implements software applications according to standards
- Web Development
- Assists in leading all aspects of applications programming and development including UX design, update, storage and retrieval
- May coordinate activities of a project team and act as technical programming consultant for small scale projects that include multiple product lines and various interfaces
- Other duties as assigned

Education and Experience:

- Proven knowledge in computer programming languages
- Thorough understanding in systems and data processing policies, practices, & procedures
- Thorough understanding in system analysis and design techniques
- Skilled in Web Development
- Understanding of project management concepts & techniques
- Ability to program complex systems requiring minimal interfaces
- Strong decision making skills
- Strong written and oral communication skills
- 6yrs experience in programming & systems analysis

Preferred:

- Undergraduate studies in computer science, management information systems, mathematics or related field
- Project management experience will be a great plus!